Topic title New creation of employees

Topic description (maximum 50 words)

essay

In my student consulting ^{topic}, I would like to describe the process of creating a new employee for the individual IT systems in our company. I work in the IT department and am responsible, for example, for ensuring that our employees can use our Enterprise Resource Planning System and do not violate any security policies.

'creating' a new employee is a little strange. Do you mean 'processing' or 'hiring' new employees?

Tutor feedback

This seems an interesting and appropriate choice of topic.

You could conclude, after describing the process, by commenting on how, for example, the process could be improved.
